

FLYING COLUMN ASTONISHES ALL BY ITS DARING

Remarkable Body of Siberian Troops, Organized by Rich Patroness, Is Making Record in Present War.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Headquarters of the Russian Army of the Center, Dec. 21.—The following story of the Twenty-first flying column of the First Siberian corps was related by Andrew Kalpaschnikoff, former secretary of the Russian embassy at Washington. Kalpaschnikoff offered his service to his country at the outbreak of the war and was assigned to service with the Red Cross. He became identified with the Twenty-first flying column and soon was placed in command of that body. "The reckless daring of the First Siberian corps," said Kalpaschnikoff, "is well known throughout Russia. The flying column attached to such a fighting organization has no easy task. In the first days of the war several columns, attracted by the brilliant achievements of that corps in the defense of Warsaw, strove for the honor of working with it, and especially with the famous first division; but they found the work too hard, or the conditions too dangerous, and after brief periods abandoned the task."

"The Twenty-first flying column which had been with the corps since the end of November, 1914, has proven its worth. It has been organized at the expense of a rich patroness, Countess Tolstoy, already famed for the work she has done in the founding of hospitals and feeding points for the sick and wounded. Early in October it did its first work with one of the European corps sent to the relief of Lovitch. At a critical moment, when the enemy had broken through the Russian lines in two places, the column took up its task on its own initiative. The commander, at that time, Bashkoff, dispatched two sections to a neighboring village in charge of Terentiev, son of the emperor's physician, and myself."

Danger Not Realized.
"A diplomat and a student neither of whom had ever been in war before, could not judge of the danger and we rode boldly into the village, half of which had already been occupied by the Germans. The latter opened fire on our sanitary carriages with rapid fire guns. Part of the carriages were destroyed. We recalled our men and started back as fast as we could. The Germans shelled the road over which we rode to our headquarters, but found that the road from Lovitch had been cut. With the wounded we had picked up we had to make a retreat of thirty-five miles in one night, most of the way under the shell fire of the Germans, to Skiermnik. There we found that the town had been ordered evacuated by the Russian troops and we were practically the only ones left there. A hot fight was in progress outside the town. At the last moment a Russian success on one of the flanks saved the city and enabled the Russians to repulse the Germans. Being the only Red Cross unit on the ground, as the result of a mere chance, we found and fed, in two days, 3,017 wounded. "We were ordered then to move on with the corps of the famous General Mishenko, known as the Cossack raider of the Japanese war. We took up our work in his advance lines just at the time the Germans made their second dash on Warsaw. Our corps struck first for nine days, repulsing attack after attack. This nine days among the Caucasian heroes was the most trying and dangerous, but at the same time the most instructive, of our experiences. In one night seven hundred wounded were found and cured for the greater part in the trenches under heavy artillery fire. Several sanitars were wounded."

Caucasians Ordered Back.
"When new corps came to the rescue the Caucasians were ordered to make a rapid move back to join fresh troops and begin an advance together. The move was executed so suddenly and rapidly that the military aid had no time to take out the wounded."

In Treating Tuberculosis

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

There is probably no man appearing on the screen who has more friends than Henry B. Walthall of the Essanay company. His vivid impersonations have a potency of their own and any picture in which he has a role is pretty sure to be well worth seeing. Mr. Walthall was born in Shelby county, Alabama, in 1880, and is a veteran of the Spanish-American war. For several years he was on the legitimate stage. He began his screen career with the Biograph company. Later he was with Pathe Freres, Mutual Film, and he has been with the Essanay for some months, his duties being confined to the Chicago studio of that corporation. Mr. Walthall is about medium height, has pleasant brown eyes, brown hair which he wears in the opinion of one person, rather too long. He has a nice, whiskered smile and a manner that is pleasant, though a trifle reticent. Married.

"LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA."

The American Film company's second Mutual Masterpicture, De Luxe Edition, "Lord Loveland Discovers America," will be released January 27. This delightfully humorous picture is the story by C. N. and A. M. Williamson has been quite as delightfully directed by Arthur Maude, the distinguished English actor, who himself plays the title role. Mr. Maude is supported by Miss Constance Crawley, the popular dramatic star, who is cast for the role of Lady Deamer, the American heiress. To New Yorkers especially the setting of "Lord Loveland Discovers America," will be extremely interesting. The tale changes its setting in vivid contrast between the luxurious Waldorf and the hotel on the bowery. "Lord Loveland" discovers America, and in doing so, he puts on the screen some of the most interesting bits of New York's show places ever filmed.

Edna May, who since she became the wife of the wealthy Oscar Lewisohn, of New York, in 1907, has been out of the limelight's glare, has succumbed to the lure of the screen. Her contract for a single feature film calls for a salary of $100,000. She will turn the entire sum over to the Red Cross and other charities, she says.

Thomas J. Carrigan, Metro's newest leading man, who plays with his Mary Miles Minter in "Rose of the Alps," began his professional career with a circus, playing a clown.

GERMAN SIDE OF WAR PRESENTED AT THE CRYSTAL

Remarkable Picture Draws Big Crowds to Both Matinee and Night Shows; Last Opportunity to See Film Today

Following closely on the heels of the news dispatches, the several hundred scenes vividly depicted in "The German Side of the War," which is the special attraction at the Crystal theater this afternoon and tonight, cannot fail in leaving a lasting impression on the memory of those who read from day to day the happenings at the front in Europe.

Step by step is shown in vivid detail features of a military campaign more vast than that waged in the same territory by the once mighty Napoleon.

Shortly after Europe burst into flame, a fugitive, Edwin E. Weigle, went to Belgium for the Chicago Tribune and brought back to this country enough material in the way of motion pictures to give to this half of the world a clear idea of what was taking place on the other side of the water. These pictures were shown in Albuquerque—at 25 cent admission—caused wide comment.

These new Tribune pictures, however, are even more vivid than those which Mr. Weigle obtained on his first trip, yet the admission is but 5 and 10 cents.

Special War Camera.
On this second expedition Mr. Weigle knew what the conditions were and went fully equipped. In his kit was a specially made war camera, the lens of which was constructed so as to bring events from a great distance apparently to the foreground. Experts who have viewed these pictures declare them to be the most authentic and real war films ever taken. They actually bring the hostilities of the vast Teuton armies right before your eyes.

Obtaining pictures of this nature is far removed from the fortunes of chance. It required official permission from the Austro-German war lords to accompany the armies, and this was secured only after a financial arrangement, by which one-half the proceeds coming to the Chicago Tribune from showing these pictures was donated to the blinded and crippled soldiers' fund, which is handled through the German consul situated at Chicago.

From an educational standpoint the pictures being shown today at the Crystal are well worth while, and if their authenticity was thoroughly understood the Crystal would never accommodate the crowds of Albuquerqueans who would flock there to witness the real thing in war pictures.

Mail Handled Without Delay.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Jan. 22.—Despite three days of snow, the star route carriers working out of Las Vegas are keeping their service up to schedule. Many of them have been obliged to put extra horses on their wagons in order to get through the drifts. When the snow begins to melt, it is believed, the most trouble will be encountered. The Mora and Santa Rosa routes, which are of most importance, have been handled with no delay. The 75-mile route to Chertaville, which serves the mesa country, is still open. Five inches of snow fell here last night.

Commander Evans Married.
London, Jan. 22 (3:45 p. m.).—Commander E. R. G. Evans, second in command of Scott's Antarctic expedition, was married in London today to Miss Elsa Andvord of Christiania, to whom he was introduced by the king of Norway.

BUSINESS COLLEGE ITEMS

The enrollment for the present term in both day and evening school is far above last year. The figures reaching one hundred and thirty-eight. Last year the enrollment was ninety-six. The correspondence department also showed an increase. The basketball team seems to be under a hoodoo since it entered the league. The boys won every game played before the league season opened, but have lost league games to both the U. S. M. and the Foresters. The team with the Foresters Thursday night was close, the score being 19 to 16. Two weeks ago the A. B. C. boys defeated the Foresters 30 to 24.

Mr. Alfred Reid has gone to Las Vegas, N. M., where he has accepted a responsible position with Erickson & Sablin.

Several new records are being made in the typewriting class. The best attained is that made by Miss Wilma Stevens of sixty-six words net per minute. Miss Stevens has been in attendance just four months.

Miss Margaret McLaren is assisting Manager Wiley of the Commercial club preparing for the big gentlemen's convention.

Attorney George C. Taylor made a very interesting talk to the students last week on "Washington, Our Capital City," and the opportunities offered in civil service.

Ralph Ginsberg has gone to Winslow, Ariz., where he has accepted a position with Superintendent Tuttle of the A. T. & S. P. R. R.

R. E. Fortney, one of last year's basketball stars, has accepted a civil service appointment in Arizona at $1,200 a year. Since his graduation last September, Mr. Fortney has been instructor of commercial studies in the Blislee, Ariz., high school, but resigned to accept the government appointment.

So frequent have been the calls for help since January 1 that the management has not been able to supply all the calls, despite the fact that several non-graduates have been placed in positions, and every available graduate of the school is employed. This condition shows that business is very active and all indications point to an even greater demand for help and continuance of the shortage of supply.

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW

Dose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all cranked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

MISSOURI STATE LIFE ISSUES A FINE DOCUMENT

Statement of Condition of This Company Shows Wonderful Increases; Big Loan in New Mexico.

The twenty-third annual statement, showing the condition of the Missouri State Life Insurance company, as of January 1, 1916, is published in today's Journal, and it shows a remarkable climb in the insurance business since December 31, 1914, eleven years ago when the annual statement was issued. The admitted assets, as published then, totaled $662,561.96, and on December 31, 1915, the assets had climbed to $12,900,808.15, an increase in the eleven years of 1711 per cent. In the same time the guaranteed fund to policy holders, had increased from $152,952.64 to $2,336,639.97, amounting to 1437 per cent. On December 31, 1914, the statement then issued showed insurance in force, paid for basis, $10,135,564.00, and this had increased to the enormous figure of $196,336,393.00, shown in the statement of December 31, 1915, an increase in the eleven years of 955 per cent. A study of the table show increases for the year 1915 as follows: In policy reserves $1,216,194; in admitted assets, $1,438,291; in insurance in force, $12,515,939.

These figures speak for themselves and they stamp the Missouri State Life Insurance company as one of the largest legitimate western companies in the United States, making loans practically altogether in the west—that is west of the Mississippi river—as first mortgage on real estate. General Agent McTeer, whose jurisdiction is the entire state of New Mexico, is more than pleased over the statement made by his company, and particularly over the business done in New Mexico during the year just closed. He stated that the gains made by the company in New Mexico on real estate for 1915 amounted to $217,950.

The statement published elsewhere in the Journal should be read carefully by prospective policy holders; it is a most splendid showing and puts the Missouri State Life Insurance company in the front ranks.

As stated, Mr. McTeer, is the general agent, Mr. S. Tierney the local agent, and Robert L. Miller, Denning, district manager.
